ALUMNÆ LAUNCH VICTORY LOAN DRIVE TO ENDOW FRENCH CHAIR

Aim at $100,000 in Liberty Bonds; Quotas for Different Districts

Raising $100,000 in three weeks to endow an Alumnæ Chair of French is the program of the alumnæ for the coming Victory Loan Drive. Contributions in Liberty Bonds will be asked of friends of Bryn Mawr rather than of the alumnæ themselves in order not to interfere with the Students' Building Fund.

"Help your country, help your college, honor France," is the slogan. Telegrams have been sent to twenty-nine Bryn Mawr women asking them to take the chairmanship of local committees. "Will you in your district undertake to raise $100 bonds?" is the form of the request. Quotas have been assigned to different localities—New York, 200 one hundred dollar bonds; Chicago, 150; Philadelphia and Boston, 100, etc.

Contributions other than bonds, if received before May 12, will be invested in bonds of the committee. Myra Elliot Vauclain '08 is responsible for the idea of the campaign, and the Alumnæ Finance Committee and the Board of Directors for the management of it.

The goal of the Finance Committee is to raise every full professor's salary to five thousand dollars. Four chairs have been endowed by the alumnæ to date, each of which receives three thousand dollars. When a new chair is endowed the money used by the college for that chair is released to increase the salaries of other members of the faculty and staff.

KAISER TO BE TRIED IN TAYLOR

Dr. Fenwick, Lawyer for the Defense; Members of Faculty to Serve on Jury

A public trial of the Kaiser will be held by Dr. Fenwick's class in International Law on the first Monday evening after vacation, instead of the regular Current Events class. Dr. Fenwick will be lawyer for the defense and the ten Senior members of the class lawyers for the prosecution. M. O. Hawkins '19 will be judge.

The jury, which is being formally impanelled, will be Miss Dorado, Dr. Hoppin, Miss Abby Kirk, Miss G. G. King, Dr. Barnes, Miss Maddison, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Samuel Chew, Jr., Dr. Rea, Dr. de Laguna, Dr. Saunders, and J. Peabody '19. Clerks of the court are J. Peabody '19, M. Foot '21, S. Hand '22. Officers are A. Thorndike '19, M. Goggin '21, E. Donohue '22. The prisoner will be tried in absentia.

The prosecuting attorneys are R. Reinhardt, C. Hollis, E. Lanier, M. Tyler, R. Hamilton, D. Peters, M. Broomfield, M. Lubar, H. Hunting, and M. Martin. If they prove the Kaiser guilty they will be excused from one of the semester's report in international law, but if Dr. Fenwick wins his case reports must be written.

Speaker on Near East Coming

Dr. John Kingsley Birge, professor in a boys' school in Smyrna, Turkey, will speak on education in the near East, the week after vacation. The date has not been settled. Dr. Birge gave a course at Silver Bay the summer of 1917.

Mrs. Eddy will speak May 7, and Dr. Harry Ward May 14 under the Bible and Mission Committee.

RELIGION IN ECONOMICS TREATED BY DR. SOARES

Week-end Conference Three Lectures Enthusiastically Attended

Dr. Theodore Soares, leading a conference of three meetings under the Christian Association last week-end, emphasized religion as a vital part of every economic and social question.

Dr. Soares, who is professor of practical theology at the University of Chicago, was introduced at the first meeting Saturday night by President Thomas. During the past year he worked with the soldiers in France under the Y. W. C. A. and later was chaplain of the S. A. T. C. at Chicago University. Dr. Soares met with the cabinet Friday evening and was entertained at a thé dansant in the gymnasium Saturday afternoon. He spoke Saturday night, Sunday morning and evening in the chapel.

NOT ESCAPE BUT INSIGHT SHOWN TO BE RELIGION'S GOAL

Attacking "pious religion," which seeks only an escape from practical life, Dr. Soares, in his first address defined religion as the "possibility of securing, at will, insight which otherwise would come to us only occasionally in the supreme and critical moments of life."

Pious religion is designed to be detached, continued Dr. Soares, because some kinds of people want to get spiritual truth from the pulpit, and not a discussing of vital problems. This is a dividing up of life, for we are not true to religion unless we regard it as a challenge to make life finer.

The value of the quiet hour is to enable us to see life whole, not to become detached. We cannot be always on the peak, but in religion we can secure recurrent inspiration by learning to know a living God.

In religion we get Jesus, a man who lived among men, and who believed that this was a world where we could "dare to do right." Religion means Friendship with God and men. Friendship is the hope of the world, the spirit of Him who "counted not life dear unto Him."

PRAYER NOT A MIRACLE, BUT A PSYCHOLOGICAL PROCESS

"Not a miracle, but an ordinary process of nature," was Dr. Soares' description of prayer in the second meeting of the conference Sunday morning.

"People try to explain away prayer by calling it a psychological process," Dr. Soares showed. "They say 'that a soldier prayed to be brave and he was brave, but it was purely psychological.' Of course God operates as consciousness, and we find God in common life: prayer is not supernatural."

Prayer is not getting things from God; it is self-direction toward the spiritual meaning of life, continued Dr. Soares. The tragedy comes when it seems as if life was meaningless. But the world is accomplishing something, God is not failing. When you are in the presence of a great human bereavement, you want the bigger sympathy of God, and you will get it; it is a real emotional experience. When you sympathize, you have to give yourself. God actually spends himself on us. Prayer is like the reserves of an army, to be flung in as they are needed. We conquer with a might not our own. God operates through men.

Frances von Hofsten '20 was chosen managing editor of the News at the annual elections on Monday. Miss von Hofsten made the News this year.

No elections have been held as yet on the business board, which is undergoing reorganization.

PRES. THOMAS CALLS STUDENT BUILDING AN ACADEMIC NEED

Advises Against General Student Subscriptions

"The need for a students' building is an academic need," said President Thomas in chapel, Friday.

There are two existing funds in the hands of the trustees, she said,—one of $24,942, which is not to be used until $60,000 is collected for the building. A second fund of $1800 has been raised through student entertainments and contributions. "At one time there was a student who used to bring her savings week by week and drop them in the box outside my office," she added.

Temporary Theater Not Possible

"Make your plans to build the auditorium first, if there is not enough money for the complete building," President Thomas advised. "The college architect will reach New York from California April 15, and he and the students' committee and the executives of the college may then arrange to visit other college theatres. Bryn Mawr can usually build her buildings more cheaply than other institutions because she is not too proud to save in non-essentials." President Thomas warned the students that the trustees would not allow a temporary theatre to be built. "Never, even in the days of utmost need, have we ever contemplated putting up a temporary building on our beautiful campus. It means we should never get a real building."

She advised against general student subscriptions and the kind of money-raising campaigns used during the war, such as class assessments and charging for entertainments. "The money must come in large subscriptions from relations and friends of the students who can afford to give, and these outside people must be persuaded by the students that this is a worthy thing to give to and desperately needed. The alumnæ cannot be counted on for much, as the Alumnæ Association feels that the endowment of the college is the one great aim of every loyal alumna."

M. CAREY, '20 C. A. PRESIDENT

Three Nominations Made Elections

M. Carey's nomination for President of the Christian Association was unanimously voted an election at the nomination of C. A. officers Thursday. She received 122 out of 128 votes cast in the nomination. M. Hardy, who received 96 votes out of 121, was elected vice-president. The treasurer is H. James '21, whose nomination also was made an election. She received 106 votes as against E. Cope's 13 and S. Marbury's 7.

Two officers remain to be elected tonight: a Junior advisory member to the Executive Board, nominations for which are E. Cecil, 43, S. Marbury, 35, and H. Rubel, 29; and a secretary from 1922, for which the nominations are M. Speer, 67, M. Tyler, 30, and A. Orbison, 5.

STUDENTS' BUILDING TO BE BEGUN AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

Halls to be Canvassed for Pledges and Alumnæ Asked to Co-operate

The auditorium of the Students' Building will be erected as soon as sufficient money is pledged and architect's plans are drawn, according to a unanimous vote in an undergraduate meeting last Thursday. The alumnæ will be asked to co-operate in raising the funds.

A canvass has already begun among the students, many of whom are pledging Liberty Bonds. The $25,000 accumulated in past years toward the Students' Building is in the hands of the trustees, not to be used until the sum of $50,000 is reached. The total cost of the building will be approximately $150,000. The site will probably be behind Radnor.

A report on the possibility of building a temporary theatre was read by M. Morrison '21, chairman of the committee for investigation. Three alternatives were offered: a theatre of concrete, one of brick, or one of wood with a cinder foundation; but the plan was given up in favor of starting the Students' Building.

PLAN TOUR OF STUDENT BUILDINGS

President Thomas and Dean Taft to be Accompanied by Undergraduates

A trip to inspect the Students' Buildings of a number of Eastern colleges will be made by President Thomas, Dean Taft, M. Martin '19, and L. Kellogg '20, the week-end beginning May 1. They will be accompanied by the college architect.

Mt. Holyoke, Smith, Radcliffe, Wellesley and possibly Vassar and Barnard will be visited.

TWENTY-TWO COLLEGES CONFER ON ATHLETICS

A. Stiles and B. Weaver Delegates

Bryn Mawr was one of twenty-two colleges represented at the Athletic Conference of Eastern Colleges held at Mt. Holyoke April 11-12. A. Stiles '19 and B. Weaver '20 attended the conference as official and unofficial delegates respectively. This meeting was the first to be held by the Eastern colleges since the New England League joined them and a constitution providing for a meeting every three years was drawn up by the official delegates. Athletic Associations of all the colleges represented were discussed and interesting differences in membership, organization, sports and awards noted.

Membership for the associations varied from voluntary membership with voluntary dues to required membership, with dues, for freshmen and sophomores. Bernard makes membership of the Undergraduate and Athletic Associations synonymous and Swarthmore reserves the right to vote in the Athletic Association for those who have played on teams.

"Sport Heads" Among Athletic Officers

Organization was similar in most cases, but several of the colleges include "sport heads" among their officers. These heads are elected by universal nominations at Wellesley and, together with the coaches and captains, chose the teams.

Location caused a variation in the kinds of sports, the northern colleges including indoor track and riding as winter sports, while Wellesley and Vassar have rowing and ice hockey in addition to the land sports. Track is excluded, as being detrimental to health, at Barnard, Brown. (Continued on page 2, column 4.)

"And unto each shall it be given, according to his merits." Far from accepting this Biblical decree with resignation, the vast majority of Bryn Mawr students are beginning already their annual spring drive for the coveted grade. The chivalrous professor is greatly embarrassed to have to refuse a timid suppliant who comes to him suffused with blushes, and his kind-hearted associate can hardly withhold the 70 which is demanded as a necessity of life. The more subtle aspirants flatter their feminine professors with invitations to the Tea House, where they gravely confide all their young dreams and failures, and their far-sighted sisters are already selecting Easter cards, inscribed with tender sentiments. High above these toilers sits and smiles the fiend who regrets the loss of two merits in her total career, confident in the truth that

"To him that hath shall be given, and to him that hath not shall be taken away."

Where the End Justifies the Means

"Help make tennis scientific at Bryn Mawr." The slogan is a good one, and the college responds with enthusiasm, making rapid progress up and down the tennis ladders, and thronging the courts each afternoon.

But the ardor of the new devotee is dampened a little when for three successive afternoons she has had to wait forty minutes in order to be able to play for forty minutes more on a much too popular court. And she is crushed completely when she rises at six-forty-five the next morning and comes down to find every court occupied until all hope of breakfast.

If four periods a week of exercise are to be organized, why not organize a little farther, and provide enough courts for the undergraduates to exercise on?

PRESIDENT THOMAS PRAISES

HAMPDEN'S HAMLET

Declaring that in Walter Hampden, who will play Hamlet in Philadelphia at the Adelphia Theatre, Wednesday, a new and great Shakesperian actor has appeared, President Thomas, speaking in chapel yesterday, compared Hampden's interpretation of Hamlet with that of other great tragedians.

"Hampden's interpretation is, in my belief, the most consistent one," said President Thomas. "It is along the lines followed by Bernhardt and Mounet Souilly, the two greatest actors in the past sixty years. Hampden leaves out none of the great soliloquies, and, unlike Booth, makes them fit into his interpretation."

MAKES PLEA FOR IMAGINATION

E. Biddle Declares That Democracy Depends on Sympathetic Understanding

E. Biddle, retiring president of the Christian Association, gave a stirring talk on "Sympathetic Imagination" in her final Vespers, Sunday.

"Imagination directed by intelligence is the help of the world," said Miss Biddle, "yet we are afraid to act upon our imaginations for fear of intruding upon other people. A little such intrusion would be invaluable, for it is only through acting upon our imaginations that we accomplish anything. Belgian Relief—our first war work at college—began through Mr. Baker firing our imaginations with descriptions of lines of unchildish little Belgians waiting for bread.

We take food, clothing, books for granted every day, yet we have these things only because thousands of men risk their health and lives working in mines and mills to produce them. It is very well to say, "Such things must be," but at least we can take some action to make conditions and equipment as good as possible. Only as we realize, through a sympathetic imagination, what we owe these people can we hope to achieve an America which is really a democracy. This realization will not be comfortable, for it does not come from statistics, but from vivid images of the sordid mechanical lives of the "other half."

Like Ruskin, "I am not so good that I want to help these people, nor so bad that I want a reward; but while such things exist I can not stay apart," concluded Miss Biddle. Let your imagination work and a better world will surely begin to come.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Miss Edith Lanman, Instructor in Chemistry, has received a scholarship at Radcliffe and will study there next year for her doctor's degree. Only four such scholarships are given.

New head proctors elected last week are: Rockefeller, E. Mills '21; Pem West, H. James '21; Pem East, W. Worcester '21; Denbigh, C. Garrison '21; Merion, M. Baldwin '21; Radnor, K. Johnston '21.

The Juniors have been obliged to give up the two playlets which had been cast and partially rehearsed for Junior-Senior Supper. Alice Harrison is chairman of the Entertainment Committee. The other members are L. Kellogg, H. Holmes, D. Pitkin, Z. Boynton, and G. Hess. On the Supper Committee are M. Hardy, H. Zinsser, M. Lindsay, L. Davis and M. Eilers, chairman.

The next meeting of the Discussion Club will be in Merion the Tuesday after vacation, preceded by a business meeting at 8.15 for the annual election of officers.

D. Pitkin has been elected toastmistress for 1920's class banquet.

1920's monthly class party was held in the Hollow last Wednesday. A dramatization was given in pantomime form of "Gertrude the Governess," from Stephen Leacock's Nonsense Novels. The parts were, A. Rood as "Gertrude," M. Hardy as "Young Lord Ronald," M. Littell as "Lord Noah," and Madeleine Brown as "Countess of Noah."

The Silver Bay delegation will be chosen by the C. A. Board, the Membership Committee and the leader of this year's delegation soon after Easter. Seventy-five have signed up to go. The Christian Association appropriates $100 for the expenses of students unable to pay their own way.

Miss Dora Gray and Miss Virginia Scott will have charge at Bates House all summer, instead of Miss Deems. Miss Gray and Miss Lancaster were the two workers from Agnes Scott College last summer.

Dr. Fenwick's Current Events class will be discontinued after vacation.

D. Walters '21 will be married April 17 to Lieut. Herbert Baruch at Menlo Park, Cal.

COLLEGE COURTESY REPLACES SOPHOMORE RULES

Freshman Officers Responsible for Their Observance

"College traditions and college courtesy" will be read by 1922 to next year's Freshmen in place of Sophomore rules, according to a unanimous vote taken at a meeting last Monday. Responsibility for seeing that the rules are observed will rest on the officers of 1923 instead of on members of the Sophomore class.

The traditions, which will be read in hall meetings of Sophomores and Freshmen one of the first days of college, are as follows:

Freshmen are expected—

1. To rise when members of other classes enter the room or speak to them in the dining-room.
2. To hold doors open for members of other classes and let members of other classes pass through the doors ahead of them.
3. Not to block the sidewalks when members of other classes approach.
4. To address Seniors or Juniors as "Miss" until the Seniors or Juniors address them by their first names; at least until Christmas, to address Seniors as "Miss" unless requested not to.
5. To exchange for meals when requested to by members of other classes.
6. Not to use Senior steps unless invited to by Juniors or Seniors.
7. To remain at table at dinner until the warden has left.

WALKING TRIPS NEW DIVERSION

Miss Bascom, Dr. and Mrs. de Laguna, and Miss Oriady, went on a walking trip through eastern Pennsylvania last weekend. Their party started from Norristown, and spent Friday night at Wernersville. On Saturday, they walked to Ephrata, an old cloister town of the Seventh-day Adventists and Mennonites. Saturday night was spent at Terre Hill, and they took the train back from Honey Brook Sunday—ending a tramp of some twenty-eight miles.

Wilmington was the goal of a twenty-two-mile tramp which six students,—M. Ramsay, L. Beckwith, E. Donnelly, L. Reinhardt, E. Sheppard, and J. Burgess,—undertook last Friday. They reached Wilmington Saturday, staying over night at Westtown on the way.

POSITION OFFERED AT BATES

Anybody who would like a summer job, with board and laundry free, but no other compensation, is asked to consult F. Clarke, Rockefeller, after Easter. The position is that of a permanent worker at Bates House. The position was filled last year by E. Williams '20.

and Cornell. Required exercise amounted to four periods a week for one-half the colleges represented, and even less for the other half. Fines for make up exercise were rarely exacted.

Awards of letters were not made as often at other colleges as at Bryn Mawr, cups being given in many cases for track and swimming. In awarding the sweaters, which correspond to yellow ties here, Wellesley, Smith and Mt. Holyoke consider posture and academic standing, and at several colleges awards are made by a secret committee which tries to determine whether the candidate is a "good sportsman." Mt. Holyoke also awards a unique prize, the "Venus cup," to the girl with the best form and in the best physical condition.

faith that says, "I can do anything I want with God, if I have faith enough." We ought rather to try to get to the point where God can do anything he wants with us. I seek and I shall get—it may not be what I asked for—it will be God. God gives himself to us through prayer.

CALLS RELIGION'S CONCERN THE MAJOR INTERESTS OF THE AGE

Religion as the solution to the economic problems of the time and as a harmonizer between the different factions of society was discussed by Dr. Soares Sunday night in chapel.

Religion that is vital must concern itself with the major interests of the age—and the major interest of our time is economics. Religion must be the harmonizer between idealists and practical men. It is not religious to lose sight of laws and the facts of life. We must recognize the God of the world as it is; it is not religion to shut our eyes to the hardness of the world. The economic laws in the world are God's. We cannot shut him out of anything.

Democracy is not a levelling down of men; to the contrary, one of the greatest needs of the day is leaders. This tremendous modern world of ours is difficult to manage; we are short in ability. The essence of democracy is not the equality of men but giving men the chance to choose their leaders. Religion must teach people to give their services without reward; it must teach men that power is never for personal advantage but for social service.

The term social service must be enlarged. It now means merely "patching up"; it should mean the service of society and should include politics. The faith of Jesus must be the impelling force of men; it must make each group realize that it's only one-half of the whole and share with the other half until "privilege" disappears. Religion must be faith in God and in men, rich and poor, that they will respond to justice. Then we shall have leaders; then we shall have a real society.

MAIDS' SUNDAY SCHOOL CELEBRATES

Have Special Music at Last Meeting; Give Flowers to Teachers

The Maids' Sunday School celebrated the last meeting of the year on Sunday by having a musical program instead of reciting the lesson. "There is a Green Hill Far Away" and "The Awakening Chorus" were sung as anthems, and solos were given by Minnie Vaughan, Nellie Brown, Katharine Walton, Sarah Davis and Salome Stephens.

Maria King of Merion made a short speech of appreciation about the Sunday School, and presented flowers to the teachers: R. Reinhardt, A. Blue, M. Moseley, H. James, E. Farnsworth; also to the organist, H. Hunting, and the choir leader, K. Tyler.

After the service the members of the school had their pictures taken.

COMMUNITY CENTER NOTES

Fairy-tale lantern slides were given at Preston last Friday to about 130 people, children and adults. The same slides were used at the Bryn Mawr Center on Saturday afternoon for the children. The Men's Union of the Presbyterian Church is financing this series of children's lectures.

Two groups of Girl Scouts went on hikes Saturday under Miss McGiffert and Miss Copenhaver.

Mr. H. Gyler, a student at Hahnemann Medical College, is supervisor athletics, club organization work, etc., every evening at the Center. He expects to organize a series of hikes on Saturday during the spring and summer, in which any boy may take part.

Anyone who can give plants to the Milestone, for use around the verandah and yard, is asked to speak to H. Hill.

LABORATORY FUND NEEDED FOR RYU SATO

Only College Trained Chemist in Japan

Two thousand dollars is being raised to establish a laboratory for Ryu Sato '17, who is the head of the Science Department in the Friends' Mission School in Tokyo, Japan. Ryu Sato, who took her M.A. in Chemistry here in 1918, is the only college trained specialist in chemistry in Japan. When she made her application to the Japanese government for a teaching certificate and asked for it in English and Chemistry, officials wrote to ask her if it could be true that she could know both subjects. Following her reply came a summons from the Emperor's Special Educational Committee of five and she was solemnly asked if it were possible that she had obtained a Master's degree in chemistry, and if so what work she had done for it. After reading the requirements in the Bryn Mawr Calendar they all stood up and gazed at her in speechless amazement.

Without this fund Ryu Sato's work cannot go on. Mrs. Alsop, of Haverford, with whom Ryu Sato lived while in this country, is receiving subscriptions.

H. Alexander in "Finest Canteen"

Helen Alexander ex-'18 is on the staff of the American Red Cross Canteen at Brest, cited by General Pershing as "the finest in France." The commander-in-chief paid three visits to this canteen and declared his approval of the work it is doing.

NATIONAL PRESIDENT TO SPEAK AT LAND ARMY CONFERENCE

Mrs. Scofield, president of the Women's National Land Army, and Mrs. Hubert, Federal Secretary, will be among the speakers at the first annual conference of the Women's Land Army of Pennsylvania, to be held in Taylor Hall, April 26, at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Hubert, who has been travelling all over the country in the interests of the Land Army, will tell of the opportunities for joining units in different parts of the United States. The Land Army Club, which is composed of young girls who have worked in units in Eastern Pennsylvania, will be present. Anita Preston ex-'14 is president of the club. All students who are interested in the movement are invited to come.

TRACK TEAMS PROMISE GOOD MEET

Prospects of establishing new track records in the meet the Saturday after Easter seem very good. Under Mr. Bishop's coaching, the hurdlers have acquired better form and speed, notably H. Zinsser '20, D. Rogers '20, J. Peyton '21, B. Murless '22, and V. Wurlitzer '22. In the running high jump F. Robbins '22 and H. Guthrie '22 in the hop, step, and jump, may possibly break the present records.

Of those who won first places last year, A. Stiles '19, G. Hearne '19, H. Zinsser '20, D. Rogers '20, E. Luetkemeyer '20, M. M. Carey '20, L. Sloan '20, E. Cecil '21, are still in college. M. Peacock '19 and P. Helmer '20, who starred in throwing the baseball and hurllball, have dropped out. The preliminary meet will be April 26, and the final meet May 3.

'20 TO MEET '21 IN FINALS OF SECOND TEAM TENNIS DOUBLES

'21 Defeats '19 on Three Courts

1921 easily won all three matches of the second team tennis preliminaries played Thursday. The scores were:

E. Mills '21, J. Flexner '21 defeated F. Clarke '19, E. Hurlock '19; 6-3, 6-4. M. Crile '21, C. Garrison '21 defeated A. Blue '19, G. Woodbury '19; 6-0, 6-2. W. Worcester '21, J. Spurney '21 defeated L. Wood '19, V. Coombs '19; 9-7, 6-1.

'20 Wins Two Out of Three

The third match between '20 and '22, played Saturday morning, broke the tie resulting from the two matches on Thursday, and gave the second team tennis doubles' preliminaries to the Juniors. The matches were close enough to make interesting watching and nice team work was evident between H. Holmes and L. Kellogg. Of the Freshmen, R. Neel and H. Guthrie give promise of form, the latter's best playing being at net. The scores were:

H. Holmes '20, L. Kellogg '20 defeated J. Palache '22, H. Guthrie '22; 6-2, 9-7. O. Howard '22, R. Neel '22 defeated D. Smith '20, M. Kinard '20; 7-5, 6-3. K. Robinson '20, E. Brace '20 defeated C. Baird '22, A. Fountain '22; 6-4, 6-2.

"EVER LET THE FANCY ROAM"

Prosais class-room desks yielded a variety of verse, scratched on their surfaces, which the Reeling and Writhing Club secretary copied and read at a meeting of the club last Thursday. The following were culled from the English room:

"Side by side as we always wash our heads,
Give a long, long cheer for the green and for the red;
If the dirt sticks hard as you journey through Bryn Mawr,
And you're looking for soap, here's a cake of Packer's tar."

"A little pig with a curly tail,
Soft as satin, pinky pale,
Is a very different thing, by gar,
From the lumps of iniquity big pigs are!"

ALUMNÆ PERFORM IN ROCK

A "stunting" party to the graduating class, an entertainment long advocated by A. C. Dimon '98, and the first of its kind ever given, took place in Rockefeller last Saturday afternoon. Dorothy Wolff Douglas '12 managed the program and Hilda Smith '10 wrote the songs.

"The Stunt is Up," sung by an unseen chorus, preceded "drammer" and vaudeville, of which the three "Anglophiles," tramping and tea-drinking in the rain, and "What is Love?" a ballad rendered by H. Taft '15, won the most applause. A "Maudlin Hymn," mingling "ad infinitum" trite phrases from class songs for generations, was sung in closing by capped and gowned figures, among whom K. McCollin '15 and H. Harris '17 struck notes familiar to the Seniors.

CALL FOR FICTION COMES IN CABLEGRAM FROM PARIS

A call for more fiction for the Library War Service has reached the college through a cablegram sent out by Herbert Putnam from Paris: "Urge everything possible to stimulate book and magazine donations," he says. "Need never greater than present. At least million more fiction and miscellaneous books demanded within next six months to maintain army morale."

The Library War Service has purchased the necessary educational and technical books, but it wants fiction. The books are needed in the demobilization camps and hospitals on this side. When they are no longer needed here they will be sent across. The soldiers still in the field need books more now than when the fighting was heaviest.

Miss Reed will receive contributions from members of the college and arrange for sending them to the camps or abroad.

GREEK FESTIVAL AT BARNARD

A "neck and neck" torch race was the deciding feature in a thrilling competition of classical Greek dancing, games, and music, won last week-end by Barnard sophomores with 2 points over the Freshmen.

This year's festival was dedicated to the ancient and tuneful Pan. One of the striking features was the costuming, which was designed by the students. There were, among the "Greek mob," hunters clad in leopard skins, and maidens looking quite Greek in vari-colored chiffons. The classic dancing made a decided impression on the select audience that had been invited; dances, music, and costumes, had all been composed by the class members. Freshman fawns and nymphs won this event by six points.

It was announced that the proceeds from this year's contest would be devoted to the Fund for the Help of Permanently Blinded of the War.

AVERAGE CHAPEL ATTENDANCE, 147; VESPERS, 92

A maximum attendance of 230 at Sunday chapel, and of 195 at vespers, appear in the report of the Religious Meetings Committee, which is compiled from the statistics of 18 vesper and 19 Sunday chapel services. The report follows:

Chapel (22 services).
Largest attendance	230
Smallest attendance	72
Average	147
Vespers (22 services).
Largest attendance	195
Smallest attendance	50
Average	92

Whistles Warn Trespassers

Officers of the associations and of the classes, armed with tin whistles marked "municipal police," form a committee to see that students do not cross the grass on the upper campus. The step was taken as a result of a motion proposed in an Undergraduate meeting last Thursday because of the serious condition of the grass. The motion was passed in spite of the suggestion that "the whistling might interfere with academic work."

SHOWS NEEDS OF MODERN CHINA

President Edmonds of Canton College Calls Educated Woman China's Great Hope

Modern China, its needs and the needs of its women, were the subjects of a series of lantern slides and an accompanying address by President Edmonds of Canton Christian College last Wednesday evening. President Edmonds showed photographs taken in his travels up the interior rivers of China on surveying trips.

"China has no good roads," he said, attributing to its poor transportation facilities its lack of unity. Its minerals are not being extracted, nor its industries organized on a modern basis. He stated that China would soon be a heavy producer of cotton.

As engineers the Chinese can ably repair the damage done by "China's Great Sorrow," the Yellow River, when it breaks through its triple dikes. The longest and oldest canal in the world is in China, known as the "River of Grain Transports," completed in 1250.

Ancestor-worship was illustrated by pictures of Confucius' birth and burial-place, where his 76th lineal descendant is commissioned by the government to care for his tomb and a vast cemetery containing the graves of all his descendants.

The report that foot binding is decreasing President Edmonds could not verify, except in the regions on the coast near Christian schools, which will not admit any girl with bound feet.

"The Christian educated woman is the hope of China," said President Edmonds, in describing the college at Canton.

Fung Kei Liu '22 studied at Canton Christian College and her sister is dean there.

R. Neel has been elected permanent track captain for 1922, and L. Grim permanent basketball captain.

MISS KING TO TRAVEL IN SPAIN

Granted Year's Leave of Absence; Will Go in Spring to Sardinia

Professor Georgiana Goddard King has been granted leave of absence for next year to travel in Spain. She will spend the winter in Spain and go in the spring to Sardinia, where she has a commission to study Spanish influence. She will be accompanied by Miss Lowber, who will take photographs of places of interest and, if possible, of some of the paintings.

"There is a great deal of information about early art which I want and which I cannot get unless I am actually on the soil," Miss King told a News reporter. "A great deal about history of art comes out in the big daily newspapers of the provinces or in the New Year's almanac which they publish. I may have to go to some of the newspaper offices and look through the files to get what I want."

A twenty-six-hour trip in a mule diligence will be one of the events of Miss King's trip. She plans to leave Cuenca at three in the morning and travel steadily until six in the evening; then, after three hours' rest, to travel all night. Miss King plans also to follow the course of the Cid, and of Don Quixote, and hopes to meet Blasco Ibanez, on whose works she has written an essay, which will soon be published.

In Sardinia Miss King will prepare a book for publication by the Hispanic Society. She will also write on Sardinian architecture in the Pisan style, which has never been written on except in Italian. Photographs will be secured for her in advance by Mrs. Giles, mother of Ellen Giles '96.

LOAN DRIVE STARTS APRIL 28

Families of Students Asked to Buy Bonds Through College

The "Victory Fifth" Liberty Loan campaign, managed by Miss Franklin, will open with a rally on April 30. The booth in Taylor will be open every day from 8.30 to 1, and from 2 to 3, April 28 to May 2, inclusive. Another rally will take place on May 7, and the booth be reopened May 7 to 9, inclusive. Members of the faculty will speak in the halls.

The Liberty Loan Committee urges members of the college to postpone buying bonds until they return to college after vacation, and to ask their families to buy them through the college.

BARRÈS THE PATRIOT DESCRIBED

French Academician Lectures on War Writer's Development

The nationalism of Maurice Barrès, French patriot and novelist, was explained by M. Fernand Baldensperger in his lecture last Friday. M. Baldensperger, who wears the red ribbon of the French Academy, is professor of Comparative Literature at the Sorbonne and exchange professor at Columbia. His lecture was given under the auspices of the French Club.

During the war, M. Baldensperger declared, the writings of Barrès formed a link between the front and the people at home. Before 1914 he had been the champion of the lost provinces of the most poignant memories of his childhood being the retreat of the defeated French troops in the war of 1870. Several of his novels dealt with life in the occupied territory, and he spoke of Germany always as the "enemy of the East," a "troubled sea" beating always against the French frontier.

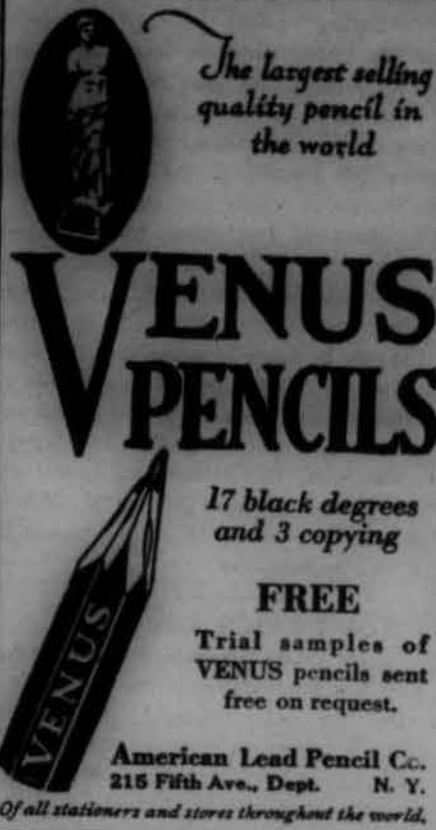

"Because Barrès felt himself alone in his national concern," said M. Baldensperger, "because the disaster of the Franco-Prussian war and the danger of another weighed less heavily on others, he sought refuge in sarcasm, in that ironic attitude which, especially in his first books, won him much criticism. He amused himself by making fun of the leading ideas of the day. Those who were not like him irritated him. In his book 'Sous l'Oeil des Barbares,' the 'barbarians' to whom he refers are 'simply those who are not M. Barrès.'"

The strength of Barrès' nationalism is the strength of accumulated centuries, for it is based on the theory that only through the cult of its past is a nation really itself. "La terre et les morts," a theme to which he returned again and again, is for him the only foundation of national feeling. He has a special reverence for great men and women of the past, beings representative of their nation and linked by a common principle. In line with this is his belief that every nation has certain consecrated spots, that places where groups of human beings have lived and suffered together take on a sacred significance, a special virtue of attraction and influence which they exert without one's knowing it.

NOTICE

The Petition Committee of the Faculty has decided that students will not be excused for failure to register at the first lecture after vacations on account of the lateness of trains unless they observe the following directions:

- (1) Students should plan to take trains not later than those specified below:
 - a. From Chicago: The Manhattan Limited, arriving North Philadelphia, 7.34 a. m.
 - b. From St. Louis: Train arriving Broad Street, 5.53 p. m. (afternoon before college opens).
 - c. From Cincinnati: The Commercial Express, arriving North Philadelphia, 3.56 p. m. (afternoon before college opens). Note: In case a student does not have a 9 o'clock lecture she may take the New York Express, arriving North Philadelphia, 8.19 a. m.
 - d. From Pittsburgh: Philadelphia Night Express, arriving Broad Street, 6.55 a. m.
 - e. From the South: Students should not take any train scheduled to arrive in Washington later than 11 p. m., as connection has to be made with the midnight trains from Washington to New York.
 - f. From Boston: The Federal Express, arriving Broad Street, 4.45 a. m.
- (2) Students should allow at least one hour to make any connection.
- (3) Students whose cases are not covered by the above regulations should consult Dean Taft before leaving for the vacation.
